A BROTHER'S LOVE.

Loastan, Ill., July 8.—James Watt, of this place, by one little act, has given a splendid example of that never dying love which exists between brothers, no matter how far apart they may be.

Mr. Watt was a great sufferer from Kidney Trouble and Nervousness. He was very much used up, and although he had tried a great many things, he had found nothing that would in any way relieve him. Some one suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills, and he used six boxes, and was completely cured.

His first thought was for a brother in Belfast, Ireland, whom he knew to be afflicted in the same way that he had been. Mr. Watt immediately sent a supply of Dodd's Kidney Pills to this far-away brother, together with his recommendation based on his fortunate experience.

WOMAN POLICE SERGEANT.

Mrs. Mary E. Owens, of Chicago, Holds This Rank, and Is Earning Her Salary, Too.

Sergeant Mary E. Owens, of the Chicago police department, is the only woman in the world holding such rank and title, and if she is not a good officer six mayors of that city have failed to find it out. She is on the regular police pay roll, wears sergeant's badge No. 97 and reports daily to Chief Colman, of the detectives. Nobody, from the chief of police down, gives her orders. In the language of the street, "she knows her business," and it is an open secret that she knows it so well that she can wear her badge and draw her salary as long as she likes.

She began her official career in 1889, says the Chicago Record-Herald, soon after the death of her husband. The support of a family of three young children devolved upon her suddenly, while she was yet ignorant of any profession, trade or method of money-making. Her husband's friends brought enough pressure to bear to have her chosen one of the five women health officers appointed by Mayor Cregier. She did not rest herself. When the women were dropped by the health department Mrs. Owens had made herself so conspicuously useful to the police that the elder Carter Harrison told Chief McLaughlin to appoint her patrolwoman, with a special assignment in the sweatshops, department stores and shopping districts, where most of the violations of the child labor and compulsory education laws were being violated.

"I never arrest anybody," said Mrs. Owens, laughing, "and it is mean to say that I am 'the shoplifting sleuth.' I have nothing to do with general detective work and never had."

"For years I have been attached to the board of education as a special officer. Of course, I have full police power, but I find myself more than busy rounding up truants, looking after cruel parents and preventing violations of the child labor law. Sometimes I arrest tots whom I find peddling around the saloons or sleeping in down-town doorways when they ought to be at home in bed. One night, not long ago, I picked up a mere baby dozing in a doorway, all played out and with a box of chewing gum she had been peddling. I took her to the Harrison street annex, and when we got there the child's father and mother suddenly appeared and claimed their baby. Of course they had been hiding in some adjacent doorway while their little one worked on the sympathies of passers-by. I kept the child all night, and the parents, protesting in vain, waited for her. But they never again sent her out to peddle among saloons or on the streets.

"If a truant is reported at the school headquarters as having gone to work under the legal age I make a round of stores and find the child. The affidavit of the parents stating that the child is 14 years old or older must be forthcoming or I send the little one home in a hurry."

"I can generally get the truth out of the children, and storekeepers are usually anxious to aid me. I have known cases where the earnings of a child 12 or 13 years old were absolutely necessary to the support of a widowed or invalid mother. I don't push the law too hard in such cases, and so long as the affidavit is there I don't bother them."

Mrs. Owens is nearly 35 years old, but she looks younger and is enthusiastic over her peculiar situation. She has four children, three boys and a girl, the eldest of whom is 18 and the youngest 12. She is giving them all a good education, and her housekeeping is done by a hired maid. City officials agree in stating that, aside from her police work, she has accomplished great good in the cause of charity. Every factory employer, manager and owner of a store in the business district of Chicago knows Mrs. Owens, and she has made most of them her friends.

Carry Your Own Luncheon.
It is very curious to notice how the custom of carrying a lunch on a train is steadily coming back into favor. At first everybody did it, just as they now do in England, on account of the absence of dining cars. When these were introduced the really fashionable people immediately began to patronize them, and left the lunch basket to those who could afford nothing better. Now, however, it is considered the correct thing to have one's lunch put up in a dainty basket by a good caterer.

LANGTRY'S NEW HAT.

Famous English Actress Inaugurated a Millinery Fashion That Should Become Popular.

From across the water comes the news that Mrs. Langtry has a wonderful hat which she wears with stunning effect in her new play, "The Royal Necklace." It is a leghorn, that charming straw of smooth, delicate weave which is beloved by every woman who ever looked into a hat window. It is heavily trimmed with a simple wreath of May flowers.

As every woman knows, these "simple" effects are not simple at all, but "simply maddening" to arrange. Since

MRS. LANGTRY'S NEW HAT.

Mrs. Langtry has set the style it is likely that there will soon be a raid on American millinery counters for these particular hats.

There is something deliciously charming about a hat of this style. It is so distinctly feminine and its waving brim can give an air of coquetry to even the most uncoquettish face. Correctly, it should be worn with a dainty or organdie gown of many ruffles, with silk mitts—which are quite the vogue—and with a parasol that is a fluff of chiffon and a foam of flounces or a great big slapdash bouquet of real lace.

Probably no style of hat is so becoming to all ages and all types of women as the leghorn. It is pretty on the petite girl with her fluffy pigtail tied with ribbons. It is picturesque and lovely on the large girl—the Mrs. Langtry type, for instance.

Even on elderly dames it is not entirely out of place, and everyone knows how cunningly lovely the leghorn hat is on babies, its waving, lulling brim shading kissable curls and sweet laughing eyes.

All hail the leghorn! Mrs. Langtry has not tucked it back in feminine hearts, because it has never been out of them, but she has reminded womankind of its perfections, and for that womankind will be more than grateful.

THE ATHLETIC GIRL.

Her Prestige Is Being Slowly But Surely Unraveled by the Soft, Clinging Maid of Yore.

Backward and forward swings the pendulum of fashion. We fancy we have put away certain frivolities forever, and presto! here they are back again as pronounced as ever. The fact is that the man and woman in esse have not changed at all.

Circumscribed as we are, therefore, by the limitations of our humanity, we find in our orbit that now, as in the days of Solomon, "there is no new thing under the sun," and fashion must perforce swing around in an erratic circle of periods—the Victorian, the Napoleonic, the Louis XVII, the Renaissance, the Grecian, etc.—to gratify the love of change. This may seem like a rather elaborate preamble to an analysis of the coming summer girl of 1901, but it is curiously apropos to observe that the athletic girl's prestige seems to be more or less on the wane, and that a soft feminine creature, like the grandmother of 50 years ago, who does nothing but look supremely pretty in her muslins and laces and makes herself entertaining, is coming very much to the fore.

A couple of years ago it was generally thought that the athletic movement which was so pronounced all over the country would develop a new woman, and that the fluffy summer girl of yore had vanished forever, but to the great joy of the maidens (and they are not a few) who have all along secretly detested sport, it seems now quite on the tapis that they may be as much in the fashion this summer as their more amazonian companions and may openly avow their preference for shady corners and tete-a-tetes without incurring disapprobation.—Chicago Daily News.

AFTER HALF A CENTURY.

Mrs. James Quinn, of New York, Reunited to Sister Who Had Been Lost to Her for 53 Years.

After a separation of more than half a century, in which each thought the other dead, two sisters have been reunited and expect to pass the remainder of their life together. One is Mrs. James Quinn, whose husband is a prosperous contractor, and the other Mrs. Mary O'Neill, who has just arrived on the Teutonic from her home in County Cavan, Ireland. The women and one brother are the surviving children of Owen O'Neill, who 53 years ago owned an extensive estate in Ireland. His wife died and he followed her two months later. The children were left practically helpless and an uncle had the girls placed in an orphanage. Mary was three years old, and Annie, now Mrs. Quinn, was 15.

Through the kind offices of another uncle Annie was brought to New York city, where she has since lived. She lost all track of Mary and her brothers. A few years ago she learned that two of the brothers had died, and recently heard that the third brother still lived in the town of his birth. Through him she found that Mary had been taken from the orphan asylum 45 years ago and was a servant in a well-known family.

Mrs. Quinn at once sent money and a ticket for her sister to come to New York city. She met Mary on the pier and took her to her own home, where she now dwells in contentment.

DOWBITES MALTREATED.

Twenty-One Disciples Assaulted with Eggs, Vegetables and Other Missiles and Driven Out of Evanston.

Chicago, July 6.—Twenty-one disciples of John Alexander Dowbit visited Evanston, a Chicago suburb, last night, and, despite the efforts of the entire city police force, a mob of 1,000 people drove them out of town. Several days ago four of Dowbit's missionaries were egged and driven out of Evanston and last night's visit of the 21 was intended to convert the people of Evanston and show them the error of their ways. The instant the Dowbites began their meeting last night they were assailed with eggs, vegetables and other missiles. The guard of policemen was too small to afford much protection and the crowd soon began to hustle the missionaries along the street and both women and men were liberally bespattered with eggs and mud. The Dowbites finally fled from the town.

They Got Out of the Federal Jail at Guthrie by Overpowering the Guards, Each Taking a Gun as They Left.

Guthrie, Ok., July 6.—The 11 prisoners who made their escape from the federal jail did so by overpowering the guards. Friday is known as bath day. Being extremely hot the door of the cell was left open to admit as much air as possible. One prisoner at a time is taken by a guard to the bath room. As Lee Stanfield's turn came he made a lunge and grabbed the guard's gun. Covering the guard he called to all who wanted to go, which they did without ceremony, each arming himself with a gun as he passed by the gun rack. The alarm was given, but it was some time, as the prisoners had taken the precaution to cut the telephone wire.

By dint of good work on the part of the federal officers and the citizens all of those who broke jail at three o'clock were recaptured and locked in their cells at seven o'clock last evening, except Lee Reed and Bob Harden. They will be taken soon.

BEACON ON PIKE'S PEAK.

The weather across the entire state of Colorado was clear, and the immense blaze, over 14,000 feet above sea level, was visible from Cheyenne, nearly 200 miles north, to New Mexico, the same distance south. Hundreds of thousands of persons were able to see the patriotic beacon, which was the culmination of the display on the peak. Several bow kites, six feet across, were sent up to over 18,000 feet, carrying the American flag, which was visible in Colorado Springs and adjoining towns as well as in the Cripple Creek district. A snowcloud settled around the kites and wrecked there at 17,500 feet. This elevation was the greatest ever attained by the stars and stripes.
